

Say hello to your new best friend!

Carry-me was designed to become a part of your life and go everywhere with you. The perfect companion for travelling or commuting to work or school, it will soon leave you wondering how you got along without it. Unlike other folding bikes—which, although compact, still take up too much space and are unwieldy and heavy to carry around—Carry-me will truly become a part of your mobile life. Like a true friend, it will also help you to take care of yourself by bringing exercise into your schedule and getting you to your destination as quickly or leisurely as you want to get there. Whether you choose to take the express route or the scenic route, Carry-me will be there by your side, ready to share another of life's experiences with you.

25 years of non-stop innovation

At Pacific Cycles we take the design and manufacture of high-quality bicycles seriously. But not too seriously—we never forget what bikes are all about... having fun. From the earliest design stages right through to manufacture, testing and delivery, we have one goal in mind—we want people to enjoy a quality ride.
